Christians on a Mission
Feast expresses solidarity with Israel as Schalit comes home

Mayor Barkat relished his role as parade marshal, diving into the stream of Christian pilgrims on several occasions to shake hands and embrace his city’s visitors from around the globe. When the lead banner of the International Christian Embassy Jerusalem passed by, he jumped to his feet once again and marched alongside it to the roaring approval of Christians and Israelis alike.

A number of Feast pilgrims were holding signs which said, “Welcome home Gilad” and “Israel is not alone”. Others handed out small national flags, candy and other gifts to smiling children.

“We are so grateful about Gilad Schalit’s release! It’s been a prayer that has been going on for a long time and we are so thankful. That’s fabulous news during this great week”, exclaimed Shay Kasper, a Feast pilgrim from Los Angeles, California.

“All the Jerusalem marches have been wonderful. We see more and more love going from both sides, from the Christians and the Israelis together”, added Kasper, who has attended every Feast since 1981.

“It was good for our Feast pilgrims from around the world to be here to express our solidarity on such a momentous day, as they also experienced first-hand what Israel was going through as Gilad Schalit returned home”, said ICEJ Executive Director Dr. Juergen Buehler. “Our pilgrims will no doubt return to their own nations with a deeper appreciation of Israel’s unique challenges and an even stronger commitment to standing with the Jewish state and people.”

News of a deal for Schalit’s release broke just as Feast pilgrims were arriving in Jerusalem.

Dear Friends,

“Israel - A light to the Nations” was the theme of this year’s Feast. Just days prior to our celebration in Jerusalem, another Nobel Prize was granted to an Israeli scientist, the tenth such prize now for the tiny nation of Israel. On a technological and scientific level, Israel’s light shines brighter by comparison than any other nation.

But the prophet Isaiah, of course, saw another light – a light which would bring God’s salvation “to the ends of the earth”. This divine light can be found in the Word of God, which was given to us through the Jewish people. This light is also embodied in the person of Jesus of Nazareth. It was inspiring to see once again the thousands from the nations who have been saved by a Jewish Redeemer now coming up to worship Him in Jerusalem.

In this my first greeting as the newly elected Executive Director of the International Christian Embassy Jerusalem, I want to take the opportunity again to thank my predecessor Malcolm Hedding for his leadership and excellence in ministry over the past 11 years. It was a blessed time in which he established a godly foundation for the Christian Embassy. It is now our challenge as a new generation of Christian Zionists to build upon that firm foundation. We trust that God has wonderful things prepared in coming years for the ICEJ.

Therefore, I invite you all to continue to stand with us in prayer and support. Today, in our morning devotions, we were reminded that it was a dear elderly saint who already in 1978 – two years before the Embassy was founded – received a clear word from the Lord to begin praying for a “Christian Embassy” to be established in Jerusalem. She took up that prayer burden and saw the vision come to pass. So this ministry was birthed in prayer and it is prayer which still fuels our vision and gives us the power to fulfill our mandate to this day. So please do pray for us!

It is also the faithful and cheerful giving of our Christian supporters from around the world which provides the means for us to minister on your behalf. Please continue to stand with us as we stand with Israel.

Yours in Christ,
Jürgen Bühler

for the annual gathering. It meant that while Gilad was finally reunited with his family, Israel had to set free over 1,000 Palestinian prisoners, including several hundred terrorists convicted of murdering Israelis.

Besides their interest in the return of Schalit, the Christian visitors were also closely following the on-going diplomatic drama over Palestinian statehood at the United Nations.

“I came here to pray for Israel, because those who pray for the peace of Jerusalem will have peace in their own house”, said Shola, a first time pilgrim from Nigeria. “We also heard that our president supported Israel in the UN [Security Council] and that made us very glad, and we hope he will keep supporting Israel. We all feel that you can’t fight what God has already institutionalised, you better flow with it.”

This year’s Feast delegations featured large groups from Australia, Brazil, China, Czech Republic, Finland, Germany, Great Britain, Hong Kong, Norway, Russia, South Africa, Thailand and the United States. Pilgrims were clearly excited about being in Israel for this biblical festival.

“There are about 200 Chinese at the Feast this year, which is a record for us”, said Deborah, a first time pilgrim from Beijing. “Many churches are praying and working to help Israel. You would be amazed how many Chinese people’s hearts are being prepared by the Lord, and they love Israel. They’re on fire for this country!”

The warm embrace from Christians was reciprocated, as a record 2,000 Israelis were on hand for our annual Israeli Guest Night during the Feast. Among the Israeli dignitaries who also came to address the Feast gathering were Mayor Barak, Deputy Foreign Minister Daniel Ayalon and Knesset member David Rotem.

“I love to be in Israel, to be in Jerusalem”, said Marilyn from Cuba, on her second visit to Israel.

“This is my first trip to Israel, and so far it has been wonderful. The meetings have been awesome and very strong”, said Marta Hellstrom from Stockholm.

“I love this country, and I love coming up to the Feast”, insisted Carmen Simons, a pilgrim from South Africa on her seventh trip to Israel. “That is why we come here, to tell Israelis that we love them.”

Feast Addresses

Israeli Deputy Foreign Minister Daniel Ayalon

Tonight is an honour that God has given me to share with you, and to send you home to be watchmen for Israel.

You were brought by God to Jerusalem to learn and experience God’s love for the land and the people. As a Jew, an Israeli, and a representative of the Government of the State of Israel, I welcome you here – Christians from all walks of life – to celebrate your faith, to praise God, and to bless Israel.

This week, we are celebrating Succot, the Feast of Tabernacles, where God commanded us to live in temporary housing – the succot or booths that you see all over Israel. Succot reminds us each year of the transience of the Jews as we were dispersed to the ends of the earth. But God brought us back to this land, out of bondage and exile... God promised to bring us home, and He is fulfilling His promise.

And God is using you to fulfill biblical prophecy. Isaiah 49:22 reads: “This is what the Sovereign Lord says, I will beckon to the gentiles, I will lift up my banner to the peoples; They will bring your sons in their arms and carry your daughters on their shoulders... Then you will know that I am the Lord.”

We thank you for your help in bringing the Jewish people back to our homeland. You and the International Christian Embassy Jerusalem are helping to forge this nation and secure our future with Jerusalem, the eternal and undivided capital of Israel.

We are living in great times. There is a great awakening, here in Israel and around the world, of the need for the ‘coming together’ of Jews and Christians to keep God’s commandments... God is sending you home as Watchmen of Israel, so that His purpose will be fulfilled...

Feast Bus Excursions

During each Feast, pilgrims are given the opportunity to join special bus excursions to unique places not normally included in standard Christian tour packages of the Holy Land. This year’s options included tours covering current events as well as visits to special projects of the Christian Embassy.

The Pre-1967 “Green Line”

The international community has been pressuring Israel to renew negotiations with the Palestinians using the pre-1967 armistice lines as the basis for talks on the future borders of a Palestinian state. Israeli leaders insist the pre-67 lines are “indefensible.” This tour visited key areas of the pre-67 “Green Line” which demonstrate the unacceptable security risks which Israel would face if forced to return to these boundaries.

Flashpoints in Jerusalem

The battle over Jerusalem continues to mount as Israel is pressured to divide its capital city for the sake of peace with the Palestinians. The struggle over the city often comes in the form of clashes and protests at key ‘flashpoints’ in and around Jerusalem, such as Silwan, Sheikh Jarrah, and Har Homa, but the media reporting on these hot spots is often distorted. This tour visited several disputed neighbourhoods and provided the background of the historic Jewish rights and claims to these places.

Gaza Border Area

Over the past decade, Israeli towns near the Gaza Strip have been battered by thousands of rocket strikes launched by Palestinian terror militias. This tour visited sites in the Sderot area where the Christian Embassy has been working with Operation Lifeshield to place portable bomb shelters to protect the local population from rocket attacks. The ICEJ AID team also hosted a visit to the Sderot Youth Center where we just installed portable bomb shelters. Participants also witnessed a 50-person bomb shelter being delivered to a nearby community center.

Haifa Home for Holocaust Survivors

ICEJ AID hosted a special visit to the new assisted-living home for Holocaust survivors in Haifa which the Christian Embassy has purchased and renovated over the past two years. This has been one of the ICEJ’s most successful humanitarian projects in our 31 years of ministry in Israel, as more than 120 impoverished Holocaust survivors now have a place to call home, with all their housing, food and medical needs provided for free. The tour allowed participants to meet Holocaust survivors who have come to appreciate the friendship of Christians like never before.

Special Tour of Yad Vashem

Yad Vashem is so much more than a Holocaust museum. It is entrusted with the mission of safeguarding the memory of the Holocaust and imparting its lessons to future generations. Its Mt. Herzl campus houses the world’s most extensive research and education center on the Shoah. Since 2006, Yad Vashem has partnered with the ICEJ to educate Christians worldwide about the Holocaust and its universal lessons. The Christian Desk at Yad Vashem offered a special guided tour of the museum as well as a look at some of the unique historic treasures housed on site, including a new exhibit on the Eichmann trial.

Mayor of Jerusalem Nir Barkat

Welcome to Jerusalem... where our mutual history began. Here in the hills around us is where our forefathers, our prophets and our kings lived. My vision is to develop Jerusalem for the whole world to enjoy. To ensure freedom of religion for people of all faiths, we must keep Jerusalem the united, undivided, sovereign capital of the State of Israel!
Feast Photo Gallery
This year’s Feast theme was Israel: A Light to the Nations. Featured speakers included Angus Buchan, a South African farmer-turned-evangelist whose inspiring story is told in the book and movie, “Faith Like Potatoes.” Following are excerpts from our selection of Feast seminar messages, which may be purchased in audio (CD) or video (DVD) formats from Embassy Resources at http://int.icej.org/icej-store

Israel: A Light to the Nations

The nation of Israel received its unique and divine call to give light to the nations in Abraham... This light is salvation light. It shows the way back to God from the awful place of sin and rebellion. As we examine Abraham, we note that... God gave him a huge burden (Genesis 22:6-10); to birth light into the world through the person of the Messiah. This light would only shine throughout the world because it would die and appear to go out! Israel was always called to give the light of a dying Messiah to the world (Acts 3:11-18). His death, on behalf of sinners, has reconciled us to God and delivered us from the oppressive darkness of sin. It is a light like none other! ...God also gave him a hope (Hebrews 11:10). Abraham saw a city beyond time to which all the redeemed will be gathered. It is an eternal home that will be forever bathed in the light of God. There will be no more crying, death or pain. These are the “former things”. Only joy will fill the hearts of those who will eventually walk through its beautiful gates. But, as they do, they will note that it is an Israeli city in that its name is Jerusalem... and upon its magnificent gates will be written the twelve tribes of Israel. Israel and her glorious Messiah will forever be a light to the nations! (Revelation 21:9-14, 24)

The Workers of Light

In Philippians 3:7-10, Paul said: “That I may know Him and the power of His resurrection, and the fellowship of His sufferings, being conformed to His death...” Friends, how do I get to know somebody? How do you get to know the man from Galilee? By going to conferences or on pilgrimages? No! You get to know somebody by spending time with them! So I want to ask you a question, but don’t put your hand up because it might be embarrassing. How long was your quiet time this morning with God? Five minutes? Ten minutes? Fifteen minutes? John Wesley is one of my heroes. He told his preachers: “If you don’t spend a minimum of five hours a day in the presence of God, change your trade.” Then you wonder why God used that little man, 5’6”, to change the world. That same little Englishman was invited to an audience with the Queen, the most powerful woman in the world. He was waiting there a half hour early. Her Highness walked in fifteen minutes late with her whole entourage, all the butlers and waitresses. He bowed to her. And she said, “Mr. Wesley, I want to thank you for what you’re doing for my nation. You’ve turned it from a nation of drunkards into a nation that rules the world.” And as she sat down and they started to pour the tea, he got up and said: “Your Highness, I need to leave.” She said, “Beg your pardon?” He said, “Every day at 1:00 o’clock I have a meeting with the Saviour of the world.” With that he bowed and walked out to attend to his daily devotions. I want to ask you, “Would you do that?”

Gentiles: A Light to the Jews

Just as the Jews were called to be a light to the Gentiles, our calling as Gentiles is to be a light to the Jews... “How can we be a light to them?... I believe God has new things for the Christian Embassy, for this Feast and for Israel. And I went to God in prayer and asked, “Where do we go next? What next?” And then I remembered that we shine our light in three different ways, as they did in the New Testament. And those ways were word, deed and sign. Now the Embassy has been second to none in the deeds. The welfare, the care for people, the programs that you’ve seen are second to none. I don’t believe the Embassy should now go straight into word. Because there’s a price for being an Embassy and that is that we must not be seen as a missionary society. Israel welcomes Christians who will support Israel, who will serve Israel; it does not welcome people who want to save Israel... So I said, “Lord, where could we go from here?” And I felt the Lord was saying, “It’s time for the Embassy to look at ‘sign’.” The miraculous!” I believe we’ve already heard the word of the Lord in this celebration from the potato farmer [Angus Buchan]. He gave us two words: Prayer and Power. That’s the secret of his amazing ministry, but he was only telling us because he believes that could be the secret for us too! And I felt the Holy Spirit saying, “Go and do likewise!”

Daniel’s Visions of Darkness and Light

It is the prophet Daniel who gives us the purpose of world history. Daniel saw four beasts rising out of the sea of nations, each one representing an epoch of world history. After Daniel saw an incredible, dark fourth beast, he was in shock and enquired of the Lord what all this meant... “So he told me what these things mean,” Daniel 7:10-14. And the answer which God gave to Daniel. Gods ‘political’ explanation was short and to the point: four kingdoms shall arise and govern the earth – at times even with an iron fist. But the saints shall possess the kingdom forever! In other words, the true meaning of world history is that throughout all the generations... God is looking for saints who one day can rule with Him. And at times it is the most difficult regimes which bring forth the most holy saints. Today we see revival in Iran under the most impossible circumstances. It was during the communist regime in China when the historic revival of the underground church started. We have to recognise that our God is the God of history, even if we fail to understand all the details.
Isaiah 62 Prayer Campaign: A light to the Nations

By Dr. Jürgen Böhler

Daniel 12:3 says: “Those who are wise shall shine like the brightness of the firmament, and those who turn many to righteousness like the stars forever and ever.”

The context of this passage is the ‘last days’, which is described as “a time of trouble, such as was never since there was a nation” (Daniel 12:1). A powerful Antichrist will arise and fight against the elect of God. All nations will conspire against Israel. Yet in the midst of this dreadful time, a certain people will shine like bright stars on a dark background.

Daniel saw that the common characteristic of this people who become a light to the nations is wisdom. “Those who are wise shall shine...”

So how can we become wise? The answer is simple. By spending more time with Him who personifies wisdom. Wisdom and might belong to the God of Israel (Daniel 2:20). If His Spirit dwells within us, then Jesus becomes our very own wisdom (1 Corinthians 1:30). If we spend time with Him, He will teach us of Himself. The most important key for the ‘end times’ is therefore spending time with Jesus in prayer.

Prayer is then not only a key for basic survival, but it will unlock the door of victory. We will “turn many to righteousness”. If you just have a vision of survival in the end times, let God challenge you today for a greater vision. Expect Jesus to use you powerfully in these last days.

As we pray for Israel and the nations, expect great things from God. Ask for His light to shine upon Israel. Pray that God will infuse the Church with His penetrating light. And trust God that you will become a vessel of His powerful light.

Prayer Points

Prayers of Thanksgiving: We begin by thanking the Lord for the release of Israeli soldier Gilad Schalit after five gruelling years of captivity in Gaza. Continue to pray for his full physical and emotional recovery.

Prayers of Petition: The return of Gilad Schalit has also been bitter-sweet for Israelis, as over 1,000 Palestinian terrorists will eventually be freed in exchange for his freedom, including convicted murderers of innocent Israelis. Pray for the hundreds of families who lost loved ones in those terror attacks. Also pray against any attempts to kidnap more IDF soldiers.

Prayers for the Middle East: From Tunisia to Syria, the so-called ‘Arab Spring’ appears to be turning into an ‘Islamic winter’. Some brutal dictators have fallen, but radical Muslim factions are poised to take their place. Other hard-line rulers are slaughtering their own people. Other hard-line rulers are slaughtering their own people. Prayers for the Middle East: From Tunisia to Syria, the so-called ‘Arab Spring’ appears to be turning into an ‘Islamic winter’. ICEJ AID
A Real Chance in Life

By Estera Wieja

What started as an outreach to help Israeli women refrain from having an abortion, today is a thriving organisation which helps battered women re-establish their lives with dignity and hope.

For over eight years now “Abundant Life” has been tirelessly rescuing lives, both of unborn children as well as their mothers, who often come feeling hopeless when they learn they are pregnant. The center’s main counsellors, the husband and wife team of Yishai and Anat, reach out to these outcast women, many lost in prostitution, drug addiction, sex trafficking, or simply impoverishment.

In describing their approach to helping women in crisis, Anat quotes Scriptures with ease.

“The Lord gave us Torah as guidance, and as a warning,” she insists. “The Creator of life, who created us in His image, is telling us in His word to fight for life and not to be passive. We believe in the sanctity of life.”

When the couple first opened up their home to those in need, they weren’t sure if it would work or if it would be safe for their own children. But they knew it was a calling of God and that He would protect them. Fighting for the mothers and the babies in their wombs, the pair quickly learned that each case comes with a troubled past. And not all stories have a happy ending, as many require a long season of healing and grace.

Often the women seeking help are pursued by violent men. The Abundant Life home needed a security gate and alarm system, which the ICEJ AID department was able to purchase and install. Today, both the women at the shelter and Yishai and Anat’s own family feel safe and protected.

The couple also meet weekly with victims of sex trafficking for a Bible study. In addition, Anat meets with women who need emotional healing after already having an abortion. The seminars she conducts are never easy, but she believes they are absolutely necessary for the women who have already suffered enough. Through this part of their ministry, a ‘shoes monument’ was created to symbolise the pain of mothers towards their aborted babies.

There is now a collection of 150 pairs of baby shoes in remembrance of the 150 abortions that are performed in Israel every day. A card is attached to each pair of shoes written by mothers to their aborted children. But they knew it was a calling of God and that He would protect them. Deuteronomy 30:19 encourages us to “choose life so that they and their children may live”. This is the inspiration behind many of the initiatives taken up by Yishai and Anat. Through partnering with Abundant Life, our ICEJ AID team is making a difference in the lives of broken and battered Israeli women, giving them a real chance to choose life! (6)
Diplomacy in Action

Over recent months, the Christian Embassy’s global network of national branches has been engaged at various levels in the diplomatic battle over Palestinian statehood at the United Nations. This has included our involvement in pro-Israel rallies in numerous capitals worldwide as well as at UN headquarters in New York. Some ICEJ branches have held petition drives, issued public statements and sponsored newspaper advertisements against a unilateral declaration of statehood by the Palestinian Authority. Other branches have lobbied their elected leaders on this critical issue. ICEJ-Czech Republic, for instance, hosted a special briefing on the Middle East situation for members of the Czech Senate in the parliament building in Prague, which was conducted by ICEJ Media Director David Parsons.

During the Feast of Tabernacles in October, Israel’s deputy Foreign Minister Daniel Ayalon met with a select group of ICEJ national directors and representatives to brief them on the latest developments in this diplomatic campaign and to thank them for their activism on Israel’s behalf. Minister Ayalon was especially keen to thank Rev. Mosy Madugba, National Director for ICEJ-Nigeria (pictured), for his personal efforts in directly lobbying the president of his country to refrain from supporting Palestinian statehood at this time. Nigeria is one of several ‘swing’ countries on the UN Security Council who have remained neutral on the issue so far, thereby depriving the PA of enough votes to force a US veto of the measure.
